Parents and teachers confer regularly during the year to determine children's needs. However, you may wish to provide some additional information regarding your child's placement for next year. Your input will be considered along with the criteria we've outlined below.

- A balance of boys and girls
- A consideration of extra time and support for academic, social, or emotional reasons
- The availability of additional help in classrooms where needed
- Consideration for positive friendships
- Leadership opportunities
- Previous educational experiences of students and teachers
- A match between the student learning style and the teaching style of the classroom
- Special educational needs
